ITS FIRST GRADUATION.

St. Augustin's School Gives Diplomas and Prizes to a Class of Six.

Medal Awarded to Master O'Hanley and Set of Books to Miss Galvin for Scholarship.

The first graduation at St Augustin's School took place Friday afternoon in the new building, with six in the class. The hall in which the exercises took place was filled to its capacity with parents and friends, among those present being Superintendent Herbert W. Lull and Messrs. Dudley E. Campbell and Clarence A. Carr of the public schools. The platform was decorated with bunting and American flags.

The first number on the program was a song, "Welcome," by Rubinstein, sung by a chorus. This was followed by a chorus, "Victory," in which a large number of boys and girls participated, with appropriate gestures and movements. Misses Mary Fitzpatrick and Nora Kelly gave a pantomime drill with singing, and Miss Gertrude Walters a description of the writing of the "Star Spangled Banner," the well known song being sung by the school. A number of little girls presented a maneuvering drill, which was followed by the singing of "The Lost Chord," a recitation regarding the class motto, "Sola, Sidus, Servire, Deo," and the chorus sung "Voice of the Grass."

Rev. Father Reddy presented diplomas to the following: John Schneider O'Hanley, Florence Clare Galvin, Mary Elizabeth O'Brien, Mary Frances Fitzpatrick, Alice Josephine Morris, Catherine Margaret Toomey.

The prizes for scholarship went to Master O'Hanley, a medal, and Miss Galvin, a set of books.

Prizes for scholarship were also awarded in the other grades as follows: Eighth, Josephine Lenihan, Seventh, Joseph Healey; Sixth, William O'Hanley; Fifth, Augustine Healey; Fifth, John J. Sullivan; Fourth, Marion Ebbitt; Third, Edward Edgar; Second, Michael Sullivan; Second, Mary Sugrue; First, Waldemar Kamph.

Rev. Father Reddy spoke to the class of the work of the school. The parish is yet in its infancy, and is sending out boys and girls who have been in this school but a year. Two things had been attempted—to store the minds of the pupils with facts and to train their hearts to do the right. It is not enough to know things, because we are judged not by what we know, but by what we do. In conclusion he wished the graduates every success, saying: "Honor and fame are not everything; love towards fellow man and service to God is far more."

A DOUBLE WEDDING.

William T. Ford of This City One of the Parties in East Providence.

Newport was interested in a pretty double wedding which took place Friday evening at the home of the sister brides on Bliss street, East Providence, when Mr. William F. Ford of this city was married to Miss Ella Miller of East Providence and Miss Sadie Miller to Mr. Howard Newman of East Providence. The best man and bridesmaid in each case were the other couple. Rev. Mr. Clarke of the Baptist church officiated and there was a large gathering, including a number from Newport. After the ceremony there was a reception by the new couples, refreshments were served and every one made merry as becomes a wedding feast. After this the two couples left on their wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Ford going to Boston. Both couples had many handsome gifts, useful and ornamental.

Mr. Ford is the son of Mr. Clarence S. Ford and is in business with his father. He will reside in this city.

WARM WEATHER AND SUNSHINE

The rain, which had persisted since early Thursday afternoon, has been finally succeeded by warm weather and sunshine, the latter showing up this noon with a superabundance of humidity that made it seem hotter than it was. The rain since yesterday morning has been light, .38 of an inch, but it was welcome to farmers and gardeners. The total rain fall of the storm was 1.09 inches, which is a good showing. Up to Thursday, there had been only .33 of an inch of rain in June, and the ground was very dry.

SOUTH AFRICAN TENNIS TEAM LOSES TO CANADA.

British Columbia Players Take Three Out of Five Matches.

Winner Now to Meet the Belgians in the Semi-Final.

LONDON, June 21.—Canada today won the deciding match from South Africa in the elimination round for the selection of a challenger for the Dwight F. Davis lawn tennis trophy, when B. P. Schwengers of British Columbia beat R. P. Lesenen of South Africa in the singles by three straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

Canada yesterday defeated South Africa in the doubles match by three sets to one. The score was 7—5, 6—3, 4—6, 6—3. Canada was represented by R. B. Powell and B. P. Schwengers of British Columbia, and their South African opponents were V. R. Gauntlett and R. F. Le Sueur.

Thursday's singles matches resulted in one victory each for Canada and South Africa.

The winners of this round meet in the semi-final the Belgian team, which drew a bye in the first round, while the Americans are pitted against the German team which was victorious over the French team at Wiesbaden.

The singles match between R. B. Powell, the Canadian captain, and V. R. Gauntlett of South Africa was abandoned.

TWO PROMISING GAMES.

Trojans to Meet the Lisbons, and Broadways the New Jerseys.

The Lisbon base ball team of Providence, which will meet the Trojans at Wellington Park Sunday, has won six of the seven games played this season. The teams defeated are the fastest of the up-state aggregations, and as these games were all played on Sundays they were strengthened from those which play only Saturday base ball. The Revere team, picked by many to win the championship of the Providence Amateur League this season, went down twice before the Lisbons by scores of 5-4 and 9-5. The Mantons, made up of picked players from the league, were defeated twice by scores of 5-3 and 21-8. Allendale, just to the Lisbons, 4-1, and Anthony 9-2. The only defeat shows the real class of the Lisbons, for it took the Woonsocket Inter-City League team 10 innings to beat them, 7-6. The Woonsocket team is leading and has one of the highest-paid teams in that high-priced league.

The line-up of the Lisbons will be Williams, catcher; Arthur or Gilmore, pitcher; Meehan, first base; Johnson, second base; McCann, short stop; Karpfer, third base; Kehoe, Green and Brown, outfield. To those who know the Providence League players it is plain that this is by far the strongest team which has appeared here this season. The Providence players are well disciplined, as they are used to playing under league rules and keep the game going fast, which the fans appreciate.

Two branches of the I. C. B. U. will run a joint excursion here from Providence and the Lisbons are counting on having a big following at the game.

Jake Sheehan will pitch for the Trojans, and as he is going in fine form now it is expected that he will hold the heavy hitting all-star Providence aggregation in check.

At its next appearance on the field the Broadway team will have for opponents the strong New Jersey nine, well known to the Newport fans, as it has played here a number of times before. In the line-up will be seen Calloway at short, who will be remembered as playing with last year's Seaman Gunners' team and also with the Father Mathews in the City League; also Jimmy Wright, star of the Training Station team a few years ago.

The New Jerseys played the Jamestown nine the last time the fleet was in port, and with Daglish and Dillon in the points defeated them, 3-1. In the fastest game of the season. As both men are now playing with the Broadways and will be the battery, they will try to redeem themselves. Daglish has just returned from a try-out in the Eastern league, but was allowed to go, not having enough experience in fast company; he was highly spoken of by the officials of the league.

Pete Weaver will be seen at third base and is making good as an infielder. The fans have styled him the "little man with the iron arm."

A YEAR AND A DAY.

Charles H. Peckham Sentenced to Newport County Jail.

In the United States court in Providence this morning before Justice Brown, Charles H. Peckham of this city was sentenced to a year and a day in Newport County jail. This is the first federal prisoner to be sent to Newport County jail, and his sentence here was due to the efforts of his counsel, Mr. F. F. Nolan. Peckham pleaded nol, when arraigned some time since, and was remanded until this morning for sentence. He will be, if his conduct is satisfactory, able to get a parole on good behavior after a comparatively short time, so that his sentence is not at all a severe one, rather the opposite.

OLD ADVANCE RATE CASE DENIED BY COMMISSION.

Interstate Board Inquires Into Eastern Roads' Application.

Probe to Cover Two Important Points as to Transportation Charges.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—On its own initiative the Interstate Commerce Commission today began an inquiry into the application of the 52 Eastern railroads for increased railroad freight rates. The commission denied the application of the roads to re-open the old "advance rate case" of two years ago. Hearings for railroads and shippers will begin this fall.

Announcement of the commission's purpose was made today in the form of two orders, based upon the petition of the railroad five weeks ago, seeking permission to advance freight rates—both class and commodity—five per cent.

In an effort to avoid the necessity for new tariffs, which would have cost the roads at least $350,000, their officials required the commission to reopen the old advance rate case that they might have opportunity to demonstrate the necessity, as they view it, of the proposed increase of 5 per cent. This application was denied, because the commission preferred to consider the present application as entirely new. In the old case only class rates were affected by the proposed advance; in the pending application it is proposed to increase all rates five per cent, horizontally.

The questions involved are quite different. As the proposition stands it is a question to be determined by testimony and argument. The roads petition that they are projected to show the necessity for the expenditure of many millions of dollars for many purposes, "among which are enlargements of yards and terminals, additional tracks, block signals, additional shops, improvements in stations, changes and eliminations of grade crossings, new locomotives, new passenger and freight cars and other equipment; that these large expenditures of money are demanded by existing and future transportation conditions and must be made if your petitioners are to satisfy the needs of the public for improved and additional facilities."

It is declared further that "the net earnings produced by existing rates are not sufficiently large to furnish that margin of surplus which will afford the carriers the credit necessary to enable them to secure the additional capital required for such necessary purposes and it is only through an increase in rates that this can be accomplished."

In its order the commission directed that the inquiry should cover two points, viz: "Do the rates of transportation now imposed by common carriers by railroads in official classification territory yield an adequate net return? and:

"If not, what plan shall be adopted to increase such transportation charges?"

ARSON SQUADS STILL ACTIVE.

Considerable Damage Done at St. Andrews, Scotland, and Southend.

LONDON, June 21.—Militant suffragette "arson squads" were out during last night at St. Andrews, Scotland, and at Southend, on the lower Thames, and succeeded in causing considerable damage.

At St. Andrews the east wing of the Gatty marine laboratory, connected with the university, was destroyed and many valuable instruments, scientific materials and charts were burned. Inflammable oils and cotton wool were used to insure the brisk spread of the flames. The local police assert that they have secured evidence that the outrage was the work of militant suffragettes.

The object of attack at Southend was the Church of St. John, a modern and costly edifice completely only a year ago. The organ loft was set on fire, but soon ceased to burn and the damage was negligible. Cartridges, oiled rags and combustibles were found scattered around, and a quantity of suffragette literature was left about to show the origin of the outrage.

DIED ON A TRAIN.

Burial Here of Mrs. Thomas R. Spencer, a Former Resident.

The body of Mrs. Abbie Clifton, wife of Thomas R. Spencer, who died while on her way from Pawtucket to Providence, Wednesday, was brought here for interment this morning in the Clifton burial plat in the Old cemetery. Rev. William Safford Jones read the committal service.

Mrs. Spencer was a daughter of the late James and Catherine C. Clifton of this city, was connected with several well known Newport families and lived here during the early part of her life, making her home more recently in Pawtucket. Her husband was also a former Newporter, living on upper Thames street.

Mrs. Spencer in May accompanied her husband to Quebec, where he attended, as supreme representative of the Royal Arcanum of Rhode Island, the meeting of the Supreme Council of the order. She was apparently in excellent health when she left her home Wednesday to visit her niece in Providence, but died suddenly while on the train.

LIVELY BLAZE IN PAINT SHOP.

A still alarm at 11 o'clock this morning called a portion of the fire department to the paint shop of Dring & Smith on Mill street. The firemen found that the fire, which was in the paint room, had been extinguished by Miss Scott, the bookkeeper, with a pail of sand and the assistance of others. They also learned that there had been a lively little blaze, which threatened considerable damage. The fire was due in some way to a gasoline torch, which Gustav B. Helgeson was using. Mr. Helgeson was burned slightly about the right leg and arm, and was taken to his home on Levin street in a carriage. His injuries are not of a serious character, but he had a narrow escape, as did also the shop.

into many holes, but he stuck to his guns throughout with grim determination. He likewise batted hard, but in poor luck, he, with Pinto and G. Denniston, making all the Rogers hits.

The Alumni played fast, aggressive ball, and deserved to win. Underwood especially surprising the fans by his snappy work. Eddy likewise played a fine game, in spite of his lack of practice. O'Connell, Underwood, O'Sullivan and Eddy were the heavy hitters, while Biesel went to first base every time up.

The Alumni scored first, in the third, on O'Connell's single, Pinto's wild throw after catching Langley's pop, and Underwood's double to centre. Two more came in the fourth on Oxx's safe hunt, Eddy's sacrifice, Biesel's single, two stolen bases and Wilks's wild throw. More were due, but Corcoran was called out on O'Connell's drive, for cutting second when Pinto blocked him off the base, while Denniston was chasing the ball in left.

The Alumni clinched the game in the sixth, five runs coming over on two passes, three errors, Eddy's smash past third and O'Sullivan's long double to right, which cleared the sacks. With perfect play no one would have scored. The first three men up in the eighth counted. Langley walked, Underwood was hit, and O'Sullivan singled, the last two going over when Tubley let Oxx's grounder go through him for a two-base error. O'Connell scored the last run in the ninth, when he took two bases on Cottrell's wild throw, third on a passed ball, and home when Wilks dropped the ball when he had the runner on an attempted steal. Langley made the third out, trying to imitate O'Connell's stunt. The score:

NAVY AVIATOR KILLED.

Ensign Billingsley Falls to His Death, Lieutenant Towers Being Saved.

Ensign William B. Billingsley, a navy aviator, fell 1,600 feet to his death in Chesapeake bay Friday, when his Wright biplane was wrecked in flight and his companion, Lieutenant John A. Towers, chief of the navy aviators, was saved only by his power to cling to the stanchion of the craft. Only a moment after the ensign's body sank in the water, Lieutenant Towers and the biplane crashed to the surface. Lieutenant Towers is in the naval hospital suffering from internal injuries and shock. The following statement was made by Lieutenant Towers:

"Just before the accident I looked at the altitude dial and it showed that we were running at a height of about 1,625 feet. Just then a gust of wind seemed to come up from the bay. It struck the aeroplane underneath the rear planes and the machine lurched violently and took an uncertain dive forward. This threw Billingsley across the steering gear and the lateral rudder planes went out of business. With another forward plunge the biplane dropped down at express train speed.

"It all happened in a minute. Billingsley went out of his seat and clear of the plane. When the ship started to fall I had one hand around the upright between the planes and I looked it there. I knew that was my only hope. I was torn loose from the seat, but held on to the upright. I swung clear of the planes and the gearing.

"The strain on my arms and fingers was awful, but I clenched my teeth and held on. I tried to kick the steering gear back into working order, but I couldn't make it go. I looked down and saw Billingsley turning over and over in the air.

"When the aeroplane had dropped about 900 feet the front planes went down and under until the ship had turned a complete somersault. When it was halfway over it steadied for a minute and the force of the fall was broken a little, but it gathered momentum again, and when it hit the water there was a terrific crash. But I kept clear of the engine and the planes and managed to come to the surface safely."

STAR BILL NEXT WEEK.

Louis Mann, Master Comedian, Head-Line Offering at Freebody Park.

No less a star than Louis Mann will be the head-line offering next week at Freebody Park, in a condensed version of his great success, "Elevating a Husband," which ran for six months at the Criterion Theatre in New York. The authors of the play are Clara Lipman, Mr. Mann's wife, in collaboration with Mr. Louis Salomon, and they have made the condensed version even more appealing and gingery than the original play.

Mr. Mann, following in the footsteps of many other leading actors, is making his debut in vaudeville and though his season is only a few weeks old he has met with instant success. He comes direct from a week's engagement at Atlantic City, where he played to capacity business and where come glowing press notices of his performance. He is supported by a charming woman in the person of Emily Ann Wellman and a company of 10 people and an enjoyable entertainment is evidently in store at the Park next week.

The fact that the new proprietors of Freebody Park are presenting a star of such magnitude so early in the season augers well for what is in store and proves that they intend to keep the promises made in their advance notices, stating that they will produce the highest-class acts showing anywhere on the vaudeville stage.

Besides Mr. Mann, there will be five other big acts, headed by Chick Gales, who makes a hit in his specialty.

Graduating Exercises For Ninth Grade Pupils and Picnic at Wyatt School.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Graduating exercises for the ninth grade pupils of the town were held at the Holy Cross guild house Friday evening, in charge of Miss Helen M. Sibley, principal at the Oliphant school. Printed programs were distributed, with the order of exercises, as follows: Invocation, Rev. John B. Diman, head master at St George's School and a former member of the school board; song by the school, "Ode to Joy;" recitation, "The Voyage," Dorothy B. Spooner; song by school, "Happy are we tonight;" essay, "South America," Mildred I. Peckham; trio, "O Summer Night," Misses Sarah A. Champlin, Mabel G. Anthony and Mary G. Chase; recitation, "A Day in June," Dorothy Champlin Peckham; song by school, "Home Again;" essay, "Sun Yat Sen," George S. Anthony; recitation, "If," J. Wallace Peckham; song by school, "Forget Me Not;" essay, "Points of Interest in Middletown," Damaris H. Weeden; original ode, "Middletown, to Thee," composed by Miss Ruth Barton, teacher in the primary department. This was sung by the school; air, the Austrian hymn. All were requested to join in singing, the words being found on the back of the program. Miss Sadie I. Peckham acted as accompanist.

In closing Rev. Mr. Diman made a pleasant address. At no point in life does education end, he said; it is continuous as long as we live. The aim should be to become worthy of our advantages, to take pride not only in our own advancement, but in the welfare of our town and our country.

The diplomas were to have been presented by Superintendent Nathaniel L. Champlin. Failing to arrive on time, they will be distributed later. The six graduates included four from the Oliphant, Dorothy B. Spooner, Mildred I. Peckham, Damaris H. Weeden, and George S. Anthony—and two from the Peabody Annex, Dorothy Champlin Peckham and J. Wallace Peckham. They expect to enter the Rogers High School in the fall. At the close of the exercises ice cream, cake and fruit punch were served.

There was a profusion of flowers, mostly roses. The graduating class wore the class colors: the Oliphant, red and white, with the carnation; the Peabody Annex, purple and gold, with the pansy. The class motto, which was on the program, was "Proceed, not Recede."

No picnic was held at this school, the children having been given a day's outing at Bethshan-in-the-Wood the day after Decoration day.

Miss Sibley will return Monday to her home at Centre Harbor, N. H., for the summer.

A picnic was held Friday afternoon at the Wyatt school by the children, assisted by their teacher, Miss Etta M. Sherman. Games were played in the yard, and as it commenced to rain soon after the refreshments were served the party adjourned to the schoolroom for the remainder of the afternoon. Sandwiches, fruit and lemonade were served outdoors; ice cream, cake and cookies indoors; the two last named being the product of the children's own cooking.

The committee in charge of arrangements were Misses Edith Wyatt, Rose and Mary Cardoza, Edith De Terra and Lena Dutra, with Miss Dorothy A. Peckham in charge of the lemonade. There were a number of guests.

The school yard is large, attractive and well adapted to a general good time. Last year the children were favored with two celebrations, one in the yard and another later at the home of Miss Sherman on the East Main road.

A few of the other schools had games and refreshments indoors, having abandoned plans for a picnic elsewhere on account of the intermittent showers.

The First Quarterly Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church was held Friday evening by the district superintendent, Rev. W. I. Ward, at the parsonage. Reports and the regular routine business was transacted. It was decided temporarily to fence in the land on which the new shed is to be built, so that it may be used until such time as the deeds shall be ready and work begun on the building. Rev. Mr. Ward is guest of Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Wells over Sunday.

The relatives of a number of the students at St. George's School, who came to attend the Prize Day exercises returned Friday to their homes. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Larkin of Ossining, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Buchanan and Miss Evelyn Buchanan of Pittsburgh, Pa., Mrs. Thomas Kilby and Miss Anne Kelly of Anniston, Ala., Mrs. Thomas Earl White of Philadelphia, and her mother Mrs. Brown of Brookline, Mass. The guests were entertained during the week at Sea Breeze Cottage, Paradise avenue.

Mr. Pascal Conley of Chaseville was given a surprise party Friday evening by a number of relatives and friends. The affair was arranged by Mr. William Chase, Jr., of Newport.

Miss Marcia Hazard of Newton Centre, Mass., is visiting her brother, Mr. Daniel B. Hazard, and family on Valley road.

THE HIKERS IN PAWTUCKET.

The coast-to-coast hikers are at Pawtucket, where they are delivering lectures. They will not leave until Monday, when they will proceed only as far as Providence, that evening delivering a lecture in the state armory on the subject, "Benefits of Military Training and Actual Life of the Soldier and Sailor in the Time of Peace." There has been some comment on their slow progress, by those who thought speed a condition of the trip. They have allowed themselves a year for the journey, because they expected to make stops long enough to arrange for lectures, as they have no advance agent.

DANCE AT FORT ADAMS.

The dance given at Fort Adams by the officers of the post Friday evening was attended by a large number of representatives of the army and navy and residents of the city. The administration building was decorated with mimosa, ferns, ponds surrounded by foliage plants, and the grounds and approaches to the hall were brilliantly illuminated with electric lights. Mrs. Harrison, wife of Colonel Millard F. Harrison, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, wife of Major Thomas J. Kirkpatrick; Mrs. Dalton, wife of Captain Samuel P. Dalton; Mrs. Dwyer, wife of Captain Thomas T. Dwyer, and Mrs. ... Osmond, wife of Captain Allen D. Ba... received the guests. Before ... dance Colonel and Mrs. Harmon ... Major and Mrs. Kirkpatrick ... Capt... and after the dancing ... Mrs. Dalton gave a breakfast.

OVATION FOR MR. THOMPSON.

tion "by accident," and said that it not been for the "accident" the fortieth anniversary of his service in Newport would never have occurred. He spoke feelingly of the late Colonel Leslie, saying his one regret at this was that the genial, whole-souled "Colonel" could not have been here. He had hoped that the members of this year's class would equal in numbers the total of pupils in the school when it started. It has fallen only three short of that number. Whatever success the school has had has been due to the co-operation of the School Committee and all who have come out from the school, and there is nowhere a more loyal alumni than Rogers has.

After Mr. Thompson's address the song, "Fair Rogers," written by H. B. Walcott with music by Mr. Hardy, was sung, and the formal exercises were concluded. Then there was an informal reception about the platform, where the cup had been placed, as the graduates gathered for a better view of it, and to offer congratulations to Mr. Thompson. Refreshments were served and from 10 to 12 there was dancing to the music of the Harry K. Howard orchestra.

The cup is of silver, [illegible] inches high, standing on a six... pedestal. It is tall and of graceful form, with little ornamentation, but of chaste and artistic character. The inscription is as follows:

Presented to
Frank Edgar Thompson
By the Graduates of the Rogers High School,
Newport, R. I.
In appreciation of his ... loyal devotion to the ... of the school, 1873 1913.

The contributions to the gifts came from more than 900 graduates of the school, and there is a substantial foundation for a scholarship fund, which it is proposed to keep open for additional contributions. The ... of the scholarship and its operation will not be determined until after consultation with Mr. Thompson and ... duties will be carried out by the ... in its further use.

THE MESSAGE OF THE FLOWERS.

[Rose C. Webb, in National Magazine.]

We went to her one summer's morn—
A masterpiece of bloom!
All fresh and sweet and wondrous fair,
Our fragrance filled the room
Where, on a couch, the sick one lay;
Our mission then was clear:
That room to brighten, beautify;
That loved one's heart to cheer.

How well she loved us! and each morn
She kissed my snow-white face
She thought me fairest one of all—
So large and full of grace;
But one sad morn I woke to find
I could not raise my head;
I whispered to my friends for help—
And found they all had fled.

And so, no longer beautiful,
I, too, was borne away;
And then it was I saw the tear,
And heard her softly say
"Who knows but to some fairer land
Their spirits may have fled?
Somewhere they too may live again—
Their souls may not be dead."

So, gentle breeze, go whisper to
The Little Lady there
That we are waiting here for her—
All fresh and wondrous fair;
It matters not how long we wait,
Through countless years or hours;
For God has touched us, and we're now
Heav'n's everlasting flowers!

"And are your ideals of the drama lofty?" asked the truly serious person.

"High as they can get," replied Miss Tilly Topline. "I play nothing but roof gardens for the next ten weeks."—[Washington Star.

She—These reporters are so careless. This paper says I have been "for years one of the handsomest women in society."

He—Well, my dear, what is the objection to that?

She—Why, I never said anything about "for years."—[Puck.

"So you think the world is improving?"

"There can't be the slightest doubt of it," replied the genial enthusiast. "Every man who has held office two or three months is prepared to show you how vastly things have improved since the departure of his predecessor."—[Washington Star.

"How is that?" asked the bore, highly pleased.

"Why," said the doctor, "you know everything except that you are a fool and I know that."—[Boston Transcript.

THE NEWS IN PROVIDENCE.

MAINTAINING PRICES IN A PANIC.

We hear once more, and this time from Judge Reed of Pittsburgh, who was an agent of Carnegie at the time the Steel Corporation was formed, of the beneficence of Gary's policy of maintaining prices in the depression following a panic. He says that if prices had been cut wages would have been cut and the bottom would have been knocked out of business.

What happened to wages when prices were not cut? They were reduced about 50 per cent. Of course the rate paid to each man was not reduced, but about half the employes of the Steel Corporation were turned adrift without any wages at all. More than these were turned off without wages. The men who would have bought steel at bargain prices would not pay the prices of high prosperity when the business of the country was flat, and turned their men off.

The volume of wages that was stopped as a result of the Gary plan was enormous, and this did knock the bottom out of business. The buying capacity of the working class was greatly curtailed and the grocer, the clothing dealer, the dry goods man and the hardware merchant found their sales reduced in proportion. Of course the policy pursued might have been a good one for the steel trade, though a bad one for the country. It was unquestionably the latter, and probably the former.

Gary and his associates and a professor of economics in the University of Pennsylvania have insisted that lowering prices would not have stimulated buying and kept business going, but it actually did it. The Steel Corporation maintained prices until the independents who were willing to cut in order to make some sales were taking its trade away from it, and then it reduced prices. The effect was immediate and remarkable in stimulating buying, and the boom so started in the steel trade affected all other business. It would have been better for the "bottom" of business, and probably better for the steel trade itself, if the Steel Corporation had tempted buyers by reduced prices and if necessary reduced wages, but kept as many men at work as possible.

CHIEF JUSTICE WHITE'S CAUTION.

The restless elements now so noisy, who are quite persuaded that everything is wrong and that there should be no fundamental law to restrain the enactment of the notion of the moment, will of course dismiss the speech of Chief Justice White at Brown University as the chatter of an old man and therefore a conservative, and a judge and therefore doubly a conservative. Still, not all persons are convinced that whatever is is wrong and after the personal excitements of last year's Presidential campaign shall have somewhat faded from men's minds an increasing number will realize that the chief justice talked sound sense and the highest political wisdom when he warned his audience against those who would pull down the pillars of the house in order to kill what they suppose to be a rat in it. On fuller investigation it may be found that it isn't even a rat, and if the house be invaded by rodents there are less expensive ways of dealing with them than burning the house down or pulling the foundations out from under it.

The foundation of our free institutions, he said, was the belief that "men could restrain themselves, that great principles could be written into our national life which could steer and guide and restrain and hold us and lead us on, free from anarchy, full of liberty, with life and property and everything that saves and blesses mankind saved and secured."

We do not need a constitutional convention every 30 years. We do not need Senator La Follette's "gateway" amendment to let in other amendments. The constitution can be easily enough amended now; it can be amended under feelings of excitement and suspicion not founded on facts, as is illustrated by the facility with which the direct election of Senators was added to the constitution, though the legislatures have rarely elected men who had not already been chosen by the people to high offices. The community can secure all the legislation it desires now, and if it is obliged to wait a little while it is all the surer not to make mistakes. When it can amend the constitution in the course of one year there is no great need of making the process easier.

REVIVAL OF THE BICYCLE.

One of the interesting developments of modern life has been the change in the uses of the bicycle. When that vehicle first came into vogue it was a curiosity pure and simple, but there soon developed a craze regarding its use and it became one of the most popular means of diversion known in modern times. After a few years that craze died out to a considerable extent and the bicycle was used almost solely by those who found it convenient as a means of locomotion in connection with business or work. Gradually even that use decreased until comparatively few were employed for any purpose and it became almost a rarity to see one. Within a few years, however, the bicycle has been slowly coming back into popularity as a means of travel for short distances, but not so much for pleasure as for business or exercise.

Today there are indications that the use of this vehicle is likely to increase again, though it is not probable that it will ever attain the remarkable proportions gained when it was at the height of its popularity. It is likely that it will be employed now, if it becomes a more common means of locomotion, along the lines of its recent use, for exercise and in connection with business or work. Conditions have changed so that it can hardly again become so popular for purposes of pleasure, but it is apparent that for a while at least bicycles are likely to be more common objects on the streets than for a number of years.

The bicycle is capable of usefulness in the way in which it has been employed of late, and it is a matter for gratification that it is regaining a measure of its old-time popularity. There is a place for it and it has been a benefit in many, and can still work in that way to the advantage of intelligent and level-headed users. It is indeed too good a friend to man to be discarded and it is well that it is coming into vogue again, as a means of health and of convenience for those who need some such means of locomotion.

PURE WATER BY STERILIZATION.

How to obtain pure drinking water has sometimes been a problem in large establishments, such as colleges, schools and manufacturing plants, and in not a few cases it has proved very costly to secure such a supply. That difficulty will soon be at an end, however, if an experiment which has been tried in France and seems to have been attended by success proves to be all it now appears. This new method is the simple one of sterilizing water by the use of the electric current. It is reported that in several instances it has worked well and the results have been entirely satisfactory. The experiment has not been made on a large scale as yet, but has been adopted in cases where as many as several hundred persons were to be supplied, and did all that was expected. The success which has attended these attempts points to a revolution in this matter.

If it proves to be possible to secure pure water in so simple a manner one great problem of modern life will be easily solved and the use of the electric current for the purpose of sterilizing will be likely to be generally adopted in preference to other expedients in large establishments. If electricity can be employed successfully and economically on a large scale it is possible that the method will come into common use and that public water supplies in some cases at least may be purified in that manner. How likely this is to be realized is uncertain now, as the process has not been fully explained or the conditions under which purification has been secured, but there appear to be possibilities in this direction which are interesting at least, as a radical change in the method of securing pure drinking water may be impending.

The tariff bill which the sub-committee has reported to the finance committee of the Senate differs materially from that adopted by the House of Representatives. Important reductions are made in the rates on iron, steel and other metal products; cattle, wheat, pig iron, angora wool and many other articles are added to the free list, and the rates on many classes of cotton goods and some sick products are increased. President Wilson's desires as to free sugar in 1916 and free wool at once prevailed in the re-draft.

Chicago has a labor trouble, which has resulted in the lockout of 45,000 men and a delay which involves $5,000,000 of work in the building line and 20,000 members of 17 trades unions. The improvements delayed include 10 office buildings, the county hospital and 500 apartment houses. Quite an involved lockout.

The Wilson currency bill, as was to be expected, suits some and does not suit others. Even the New York bankers are not agreed on their approval or disapproval of the measure.

Other places had thunder, lightning and hail with the rain Friday, but Newport, as is frequently the case, escaped.

The Harvard oarsmen are a little selfish. They did not allow Yale even one of the three races at New London.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

State Board Acts to Prevent Spread of the Gypsy and Brown-Tail Moth.

Stringent regulations intended to prevent the spread of the gypsy and brown-tail moth were adopted at the annual meeting of the State Board of Agriculture. These authorize the state entomologist, A. E. Stene, who is also superintendent of the gypsy and brown-tail moth work, to prevent the shipment of lumber, posts, trees or nursery products from infected sections of the state into unaffected sections and permit him, if in his judgment it appears necessary to order a quarantine of the affected localities.

The sections of the state to which the regulations apply are the cities of Providence, Cranston, Pawtucket and Woonsocket and the towns of Johnston, North Providence, Smithfield, North Smithfield, Cumberland, East Providence, Bristol, Barrington and Warwick.

In compliance with the law passed at the last session of the legislature, the board also adopted rules requiring that each package or bundle of nursery stock shipped into this state must have attached to it a certificate from the proper official of the state from which it comes, that its contents have been inspected and that they are free from infection.

The state entomologist was also authorized to revoke the license of any nurseryman whenever he deemed it necessary for the prevention of the spread of the pests.

The annual election of officers and of state officials who come under the jurisdiction of the board resulted as follows:

Executive Committee—William Williams, Bristol (chairman); Thomas H. Mathewson, East Greenwich; Isaac L. Sherman, Middletown.

Secretary—John J. Dunn, Westerly.

State Veterinarian—John S. Pollard, Providence.

Cattle Commissioners—for Providence county, Henry S Turner, Johnston; Newport county, William K. Boyd, Portsmouth; Little Compton, George T. Howard, Little Compton; Kent county, Job Manchester, Coventry; Bristol county, William Williams, Bristol; Washington county, Philip A Money, Exeter, and Tristam D Babcock, Westerly.

Officer to release Cattle at Brighton Market Consigned to Rhode Island—Philip A. Money.

Veterinarians Appointed by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and Approved by the Board—John T. Cunningham, John G. Richardson, Lawrence T. Dunn, Providence; James M. Armstrong, East Providence; John J. Giblin, Pawtucket; H. C. Conklin, Warren; U. S. Richards, Woonsocket; Thomas E Robinson, Westerly; Charles T. Frye, Riverpoint; Edward J Cole, Pawtucket; Christopher Horsman, Newport; George T. Salisbury, Jr., Wickford; John D Jones, Providence

POLO PLAYER ENGAGED.

Miss Nancy Steele to Marry Devereux Milburn, Star of American Team.

The engagement was announced Friday of Miss Nancy Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steele, to Mr. Devereux Milburn, the famous polo player and a son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Milburn. It is said that the engagement has existed some time, but the young couple preferred to wait until after the international polo tournament before announcing it.

Miss Steele has been prominent in social affairs, especially those connected with athletic and sporting events. She and her sister, Katherine, have scarcely missed an outdoor event this season, having been familiar figures at Belmont Park, Piping Rock and Meadow Brook. The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Steele is Sunridge Hall, Westbury, Long Island, and they and their daughters have long been active in the summer life of Long Island. Mrs. Steele has frequently entertained there for her daughters within the last three years, as well as at her city home. One of the notable events at Sunridge Hall was the marriage of Miss Eleanor Steele, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steele, to Count Jean de la Greze, October 19, 1910, at which Misses Nancy and Katherine were bridesmaids.

Mrs. Steele was Miss Nannie French, daughter of the late Seth Barton French. Mr. Steele is a partner of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan and was for years of his father.

Mr. Milburn is a member of the Meadow Brook, Aero and the Racquet and Tennis clubs. He was graduated from Oxford in 1903 and from Harvard in 1906. The Milburn country home is Red Beach, East River, Conn.

Star of the American polo team in England in 1909 and again in 1911, Mr. Milburn only added more laurels to his crown as the "best of them all" at the last international series. He has long been noted for his skill and daring in horsemanship. He has oft narrowly missed serious injuries by falls from mounts, his most recent accident being several days before the last games with England, when his horse fell at practice, rolling on him and kicking him. Mr. Milburn rowed in the 'varsity eight at Oxford and was famous as a Rugby football player while in the English college.

His father, a noted lawyer, was born in England and came to this country when he was 18 years old. He became well known as a lawyer in Buffalo and was president of the Pan-American Exposition at that place. It was at his Buffalo home that President McKinley died. The family moved to New York in 1905.

No date has been set for the wedding.

PORTSMOUTH.

Inmates of Old Ladies' and Old Men's Homes Entertained at Bristol Ferry.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Mr. and Mrs. Barton C. Bolton and Miss Sarah J. Eddy entertained the inmates of the Old Ladies' Home and the Old Men's Home of Providence on the grounds of Mrs. Eddy at Bristol Ferry this week. There were about 100 in all and a happier party, in spite of age and infirmities, is seldom seen. The steamer from Providence landed the company at Bristol Ferry wharf, where a special car took them up the hill to the grounds. A graphaphone furnished music, the tables under the trees were decorated and the menu embraced many varieties of good things, from clam chowder to ice cream, with numerous special dainties. In the afternoon the car took them again to the steamer, and laden with happy memories, they sailed away for home.

Miss Cora Mitchel, who has been spending the time since early last fall in New York and California, has returned to her home at Bristol Ferry and opened her house for the season. Her niece, Mrs. Louis Slay, and the latter's son Byron, are with her, Mr. May coming from Brooklyn for over Sundays.

Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Hodges of Dover, N. H., Quarterly Meeting arrived today and are guests of Rev. and Mrs. James M. Estes. Their youngest daughter, Ruth, came with them and will be guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Macomber and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Holman. Miss Mary Hodges will be graduated from the Training School for Nurses at the Newport Hospital, June 26.

Miss Lillian Wheeler left for New Rochelle, N. Y., Friday, to visit her sister, Miss Harriet Wheeler, who severs her connection at the end of this term with the public school in which she has been a teacher for the past three years, to accept an advantageous position in October in a private school for boys in Philadelphia. The Misses Wheeler will return to their home at Bristol Ferry in a few days.

Messrs. William T. H. Soule and Walter H. Soule have gone to Vermont for a car load of cows.

Those from this town who were graduated from the Rogers High School in Newport Friday, were Alice Natalie Brayton, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Brayton; John Everett Brown, second son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Brown; Gladys Aline Croucher, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Croucher, and Philip Smoot, elder son of Mrs. William Smoot. John Everett Brown received the prize medal for proficiency in typewriting.

Mr. Harry Dale, dining car conductor between Greenfield and Albany, is in town for a few days, visiting his family.

Mrs. Geohegan of New Bedford, wife of Rev. W. B. Geohegan, pastor of the Unitarian church of that city, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. William Smoot, on Child street.

TRAINING STATION FUNCTIONS.

Captain Roger Welles Assumes Command, Relieving Dayton.

Secretary Daniels Here for Another Conference and Brief Inspection of the Plant.

The naval eye was focused on Coasters' Harbor Island this morning. Commander J. H. Dayton was relieved from command of the Training Station and Captain Roger Welles assumed command. Then Secretary of the Navy Daniels arrived for a conference at the War College with the officers of the Atlantic fleet. His stay here is brief, he having arrived in the harbor just before 9 and stating that he must sail promptly at 4 this afternoon for Washington.

Owing to the weather the ceremony of the change in command of the Station took place in the drill hall of Barracks B, where were mustered the 1,300 officers and men constituting the force, there being left on posts only sufficient men to care for the necessities of the work. The men were in mustering blue, while the boys from Barracks A were in white. Drawn up in divisions which extended across the width of the big hall was the enlisted force, with the Constellation's guard flanking either sides of the bridge and the officers along the east side of the hall.

It was 9 o'clock when Captain Welles arrived with Commander Dayton. They at once proceeded to the drill floor and made an inspection of the Station's company. This performed while the Station band played a medley of airs, the inspecting party took position at the foot of the stairs and Commander Dayton, in a strong, clear voice, read the orders detaching him from the command of the Station and directing him to proceed to San Francisco, for transportation to the Asiatic station for duty. Captain Welles then stepped to the front and in like manner read his orders, detaching him from duty at the Navy Department and ordering him to the Naval Station, Narragansett Bay, for duty as commanding officer of the Training Station. After the reading he announced that all regulations and orders of the preceding commander would stand until further notice.

Seven enlisted men in white were marched to the front, and one by one stepped forward and listened to the reading of sentences imposed upon them by the summary court-martial. The charges were principally overstaying liberty, with sentences of five days on bread and water and full rations each third day, and loss of certain pay. There were two cases of men refusing to comply with orders and using improper talk, for which the sentence was 15 days on like fare and loss of pay.

As soon as Captain Welles had assumed command Commander Dayton retired from the scene. After the publishing of the sentences Captain Welles, accompanied by Lieutenant Commander Gage, executive officer of the Station, went to the main entrance, while the band took station opposite and the Station's company marched by in review. The ship's guard was the only portion under arms. There were not only the apprentice seamen, to be seen in Newport on parade, but the enlisted men, who seldom are called upon to march; the cooks, hospital attendants and a multitude of ratings. The ceremony over, the new commanding officer immediately gave attention to Station affairs requiring immediate action.

He had already looked over the Station as its prospective head and had familiarity with some of its affairs. Also he had in mind changes which he considered desirable, and later when Secretary Daniels came he was able to have a personal talk upon certain things which he would like to receive immediate attention.

While the command was mustered, awaiting inspection, there was a booming of guns in the harbor and announcement came that the Dolphin, with the Secretary, arrived at 8:57, was received by a salute of 19 guns from the fleet flagship Wyoming, and in turn fired a salute of 13 guns to the flag of Admiral Badger. Next the saluting battery at the naval Station fired 19 guns, and there were 13 more from the Dolphin.

At the hour of 10 launches were approaching the Station landing from all the ships, with admirals and captains, and the bugler on the dock was kept busy sounding "Silence," which caused all men in the vicinity to halt and prepare to salute. Admiral Badger, the admirals commanding divisions and the captains of the several ships all made their way to the War College. Then came Secretary Daniels from the Dolphin. He was greeted at the landing by Admiral Caperton and the Station officers and escorted to the college.

There was no more formality than there had been for the officers, but when the Secretary saw the newspaper men he greeted them as old acquaintances, declining formal introductions, as he said he had met them before. That this is an administration of publicity was also noticeable, for while the officers were wondering what the program of their chief was the press "butted in" with a query and immediately secured attention and an answer.

Secretary Daniels informed a News representative that he would attend the conference of officers, and about noon would visit the naval hospital and give it a more complete inspection than he was able to do on the occasion of his recent visit. He would return, accompanied by Mrs. Daniels, lunch with Admiral and Mrs. Cameron McR. Winslow, and would then go on board his ship, to sail for Washington, where work awaits him. He would not inspect the Torpedo Station, as he did not have the time. He said he would be back in August, and admitted that he still thinks Newport a fine place.

Then followed a recitation, "Barbara Frietchie," by the girls, with appropriate gestures and movements. An essay on "The Triumph of Christianity" was read by Leo Joseph Martin. Another song, "Carmena," was followed by a well executed sword drill by the boys. Father Meenan presented to the school the Daily News trophy, which the school's representatives had won in the recent athletic meet, and then made an address to the children, speaking in an interesting and instructive manner of the work which is before the scholars.

HARVARD'S CLEAN SWEEP.

For Sixth Consecutive Year Beats Yale In 'Varsity Race.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 20.—For the sixth time in six consecutive years Harvard's 'Varsity eight-oarded crew triumphed over the Yale oarsmen in the four-mile race which closed the annual inter-university regatta here this afternoon. Preceded by the two Crimson victories of the forenoon and the two wins of Thursday, it completed a Harvard sweep which has been equaled only once or twice in the long history of Yale-Harvard rowing.

Sweeping down the river with a steady and consistent stroke, Harvard crossed the finish line 11 lengths ahead of the Yale crew, in 21 minutes and 42 seconds. The Elli eight rolled and splashed across in Harvard's wake, just 38 seconds later, as badly defeated a crew as has been seen on the Thames river course in some years.

Except in the first mile the race was merely a procession, with the Crimson oarsmen increasing their lead steadily as the half-mile flags slipped past. It was not that the Yale sweep-swingers broke or failed to make speed out of their English stroke, but Harvard surpassed them in every department of the art of rowing.

Using a trifle quicker stroke, Coach Wray's pupils drove their long knife-like racing craft through the water at a faster pace and with less motion, yet in the end they failed to show the symptoms of excessive exhaustion that marked the finish of the Blue. During the last half-mile of the race Harvard maintained a fast pace, finishing with a racing spirit which carried the stroke up to 40 a minute.

Far back in the rut came the Yale eight, rolling and ragged, the shell barely crawling through the water, and the oars trailing and splashing as the men went automatically through the motions of rowing, without either catch or snap to their blade work.

As the shell drifted under the railroad bridge, Stroke Crocker and Lippincott, at No. 7, toppled forward, while in the middle of the craft Philbin, at No. 4, was so exhausted that he reeled out of alignment, sagging the shell dangerously before he could recover his balance.

So far as the English stroke, as taught by advisory coaches Kirby and Gold of Oxford, was concerned, the Yale oarsmen appeared to put considerable power and speed into both blade and slide by hard work early in the race, but when the crucial test came at the mile and a half mark, the period of coaching was too short for them to hold letter perfect under the strain. Slowly but surely faults began to creep into the individual work, until during the last mile it was simply a case of every man rowing for himself without either rythm or form, so far as the crew man in front of him was concerned.

TO CHANGE FOREIGN CRUISE.

Atlantic Fleet May Pass Through Panama Canal Early Next Year.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels, upon his return to Washington early next week will act on a recommendation made by Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, that the annual review and mobilization scheduled for the early part of next October be abandoned and the foreign cruise now scheduled for next January be advanced to take place in the fall, instead of the review and mobilization.

The present arrangement for the movements of the fleet was approved by Secretary Meyer before the end of the last administration. Secretary Daniels has made no change, except to direct that a cruise to the Mediterranean be held beginning in January, instead of the winter exercises at Guantanamo Cuba. If the foreign cruise is advanced from January to October the fleet probably will be sent through the Panama canal early next year if the waterway is sufficiently completed by that time.

INSISTS ON CURRENCY BILL.

President Wilson Sees No Reason Why Such a Law Should Not be Enacted.

Diverse Views on Money—Lobby Discussion Imminent—More Enlisted Men Wanted.

[Washington correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, June 20.—There is no denying the fact that most of the Democrats have been thrown into consternation over President Wilson's insistence that there shall be currency legislation at the present special session of Congress. The President sees no reason why an intelligent, effective and permanent currency law should not be enacted. Just as he could see no reason why protection should be accorded wool and sugar, (and forced his views) so he is going ahead with the currency. To a man like the President currency as the medium of be such a complex and difficult proposition, necessitating postponement wholly by the government, should not exchange, which is now controlled until members of Congress can become informed as to what should be done.

And so the President is going forward with a currency program. It will disarrange summer and fall vacations of Congressmen, but the people will not grieve when they realize that the pay of the Congressmen goes along whether they are in session or not. Nor does it cost any more to have Congress in session.

President Wilson has not been impressed with the oft-repeated assertion that currency legislation is well night impossible because the Democrats hold such diverse views on the subject. He knew there was diverse views on the tariff, but a tariff bill was possible. He also sees no reason why there should be diverse views on this subject, as it is one in which every legislator should be anxious to do the very best thing for the people and the country. Consequently he wants to find out whether the "diverse views" cannot be reconciled.

There is sure to be a lobby discussion before the tariff is taken up in the Senate unless all signs fail. The Senators who have been called before the committee of investigation have said enough to warrant the belief that they will have a lot more to say when the report is made to the Senate. The intimations that Senators have been influenced by lobbyists in Washington, by the prated advertisements and by the literature circulated have been enough to stir up many of them, and they want to say something about it. A debate on the lobby will be more interesting than on the tariff schedules.

Although we have a fleet of 15 battleships on the Atlantic coast and squadrons on the Pacific coast, at Hawaii and in the Philippines, it appears that the navy is about 4,000 men short, and so far the recruiting officers have not been able to get men. Secretary Daniels hopes to make life for the enlisted men more pleasant and thus encourage enlistments in the service. He has projected a number of suggestions looking to that end.

There are investigating committees occasionally of which Senator Nelson of Minnesota is not a member. But as a usual thing, more particularly if it involves the personal integrity of men, the famous old Norseman is usually appointed a member of the inquiring committee. It is not because he is a sleuth, but rather that men in the Senate have confidence in his integrity, his fairness and the fact that he is sure to go to the bottom of everything presented.

Congressman Mondell asked the House for an hour's conversation the other day, which was granted. Then he had an extension of time for half an hour and in addition printed additions to his speech. He talked to a dozen members about the forestry system, conservation, etc. He simply had to "get it off his chest." In all probability we will see a lot of men "coming back" at him, for this conservation movement is one which has many sides and ready talkers among its supporters.

There was a great deal of amusement manifested one day when the Senate solemnly and seriously criticised the House for enacting general legislation on appropriation bills. This was all the more amusing because there was not a Senator in the body who does not always try to get all possible legislation fastened to appropriation bills when the House does not pass their individual bills. And, what is more, some of the most important legislation in recent years has been passed by having the Senate attach it to appropriation bills. But while the criticisms of the House were going on no one "batted an eye" or as much as smiled.

EDWIN S. CRAMP DEAD.

Summer Resident Expires in Philadelphia After a Long Illness.

After a long illness from the effects of an operation performed a year ago, Mr. Edwin S. Cramp, who owns a summer residence on Bellevue avenue, died at his home in Philadelphia Friday. He was born in that city 68 years ago, and early in life showed that he had inherited from his father and grandfather the shipbuilding ability which made the name of Cramp famous. He became an apprentice in his father's shop, learned the business thoroughly, became a marine engineer and had great success conducting speed trials.

Successively he became general manager and vice president of the company, and filled the latter office until a few year ago, when he retired from business. His knowledge of his craft made it possible for his firm to earn the bonuses offered by the government to the builders of ships whose speed exceeded that contracted for. He was interested in politics in Philadelphia and as a member of the Committee of One Hundred succeeded in obtaining a large appropriation for the improvement of the water front in Philadelphia.

Mr. Cramp was a member of the Metropolitan Club, Washington; the New York Yacht Club, Rittenhouse Art Club, Union League and Pennsylvania Society and Engineers' Club. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Pell and Miss Dorothy Cramp.

Mr. Cramp bought the Chickering property on Bellevue avenue several years ago and occupied it a number of summers, but had not been prominent in social affairs.

CURED VERY SORE RASH ON BABY'S EAR
Scratched Until It Bled Then Turned into Scabs. Mother Washed It with Cuticura Soap and Applied Cuticura Ointment. In Three Weeks He Was as Well as Ever.

74 Blackstone St., Worcester, Mass.—"First a red rash came on baby's ear and it was very itchy. He would scratch it until it would bleed and then it would turn into scabs, and got very sore. He was very cross. I got some ointment; but that made it worse and made him crosser. I bought the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and washed baby with the Cuticura Soap; then put the Cuticura Ointment on. I was surprised to see him getting better after a few treatments and I kept on using them. At the end of three weeks he was perfectly cured. Now he has a beautiful clear skin and has not had any trouble since.
"When I saw how it cured baby I made my husband try it on a rash he had on his leg, which was very sore. After using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment six times it disappeared for good." (Signed) Mrs. John D. Dixon, Nov. 12, 1911.
For treating poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, Cuticura Soap and Ointment have been the world's favorites for more than a generation.
Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."
Men who shave should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

"A REGIMENT OF TWO."

Two-Reel Vitagraph Special, With Drew and Ince, at the Colonial.

Among the new pictures to be shown at the Colonial next Monday the two-reel Vitagraph special entitled "A Regiment of Two" will be featured. Two gay husbands enlist in the Thirteenth regiment, to be sure of "a night off" once a week. Two or three persons are let into the secret, the daughter of one and her fiance, Jack Brent, the latter being a genuine member of the command. All goes well until the regiment is ordered to the front, when there are some doings which must be seen to be appreciated. With Sidney Drew and John Ince, two well known comedians, in the title roles, this film should make a decided hit.

The vaudeville program will present the Four Casting Campbells in an exhibition of gymnastic skill and acrobacy, Josie and Willie Barrows in the "Bell boy and the Maid," a comedy singing, talking and dancing skit, and George and Lillie Garden, pronounced the world's greatest xylophone soloists.

OF UNIQUE INTEREST.

Folk Song Recital by the Fuller Sisters an Event Out of the Ordinary.

Tickets for the recital of Scottish, Irish and English folk songs by the Misses Fuller, at the Art Association next Tuesday afternoon are much in demand and have been privately sold by the patronesses, though it is in no sense a private entertainment. The recital promises to be of unique interest and beauty. The three young artists are English ladies of the most charming type. They appear in quaint early Victorian costumes of picturesque fashion, and every detail is perfectly carried out, from the large hoop skirt to the cameo breastpin and the coiffure, the hair dressed low in a net. Many people have pictures of mothers or grandmothers in just such dress, and the illusion produced by these three young women in the costume of three generations ago is interesting.

One of the sisters plays an Irish harp as an accompaniment to the songs, some of them trios and some duets. The music is admirably chosen. Some of the most beautiful of the old British ballads, like "Lizzie Lindie" and "Brixham Town," have been selected, but there are other even more interesting numbers unfamiliar even to musicians. These have been carefully collected, some of them have never been printed and others are either in manuscript or have been learned by the singers by ear, from people in the remote localities who have had these traditional songs handed down to them from father to son, or from mother to daughter.

The lovely youthful faces, the cultivated voices, the piquant fresh beauty of the trio of sisters, has come to the hardened concert-goer this winter in New York, Boston and Chicago as a delightful surprise. Boston raves about them, Chicago called them back for a return engagement, even New York has acclaimed them the hit of the season. By a fortunate chance the women who have arranged this performance were able to secure the very last free date of the Fuller sisters, who come to Newport for this one occasion only, sailing two days after for their home in England. The program will be as follows:

Prologue
"The Song of the Sword Dancers" Yorkshire
Cradle Song
"A Lullaby" Irish
Children's Songs
"Robin-a-Thrush"
"Here Comes a Duke a-Riding" Hampshire
Love Songs
The Happy Lover Sings:
"My Man John" Somerset
"Lizzie Lindsay" Scottish
"O No, John!" Somerset
The Unhappy Lover Sighs:
"William Taylor" Somerset
"The Twa Sisters of Binnorie" Scottish
Mothers' Songs
"A Gaelic Croon" The Hebrides
"Whistle, Daughter, Whistle" Somerset
Songs of Occupation
"Oxen Ploughing" Devonshire
"The Quern Tune" Irish
"The Shepherds' Feast Song" Gloucestershire
A Song of Death
"The Lyke Wake Dirge" North of England
Songs of Home and Country
"The Birds in the Spring" Surrey
"In Praise of Islay" Scottish
The Singers' Apology and Farewell
"Brixham Town" Devonshire

The list of patronesses for the recital includes Miss Angier, Mrs. William H. Birckhead, Mrs. Harold Brown, Mrs. J. N. Brown, Mrs. W. B. Copperton, Mrs. R. C. Derby, Mrs. Stuart Duncan, Mrs. F. P. Dream, Winner of Race, Did Not Participate in Return Contest.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Motor boat Tocsam, owned by William Mulford of Ocean City, N. J., crossed the finish line off Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, at 4:02 a. m. today, winning the Crescent Athletic Club trophy for a return race from Bermuda.

The Barbara II crossed the finish line at 9:24 o'clock last night, but, because of the rating, could not win with less than an 11 hour margin. The two boats, having competed in the Philadelphia-Bermuda race, left Hamilton for the return at 6:27 Tuesday evening. The Dream, winner of the race, did not participate in the return contest.

Closing—The market closed weak. The unsettlement continued through the day, although trading grew quieter toward the close. Selling for both foreign and domestic account was on a large scale, and business during the first hour was larger than the total transactions of either of the two preceding days. Disturbed conditions in the London and continental markets caused further liquidation abroad, resulting in foreign selling here. The chief depressing factor, however, was the refusal of the Interstate Commerce Commission to re-open the freight rate advance cases. This gave the bears an opening, of which they made the most, being aided in their efforts by offerings of long stocks bought recently in expectation of a continued rise in prices following the sharp break of last week. Declines ranged up to about 3 points in several instances, with the whole list showing material losses. Bonds were heavy. Money on call, nominal. OVATION FOR MR. THOMPSON.

Receives a Loving Cup at the Close of Forty Years at the Rogers.

Annual Reunion and Reception Made Notable by Gift of the School Alumni.

The annual reunion of the alumni of the Rogers High School and reception for the members of the graduating class, at the school building Friday evening, was made especially notable by the presentation to Mr. Frank E. Thompson, the head master, of a silver loving cup and the announcement of the foundation of a fund, to be known as the Frank E. Thompson scholarship. The gifts came from the alumni in recognition of the completion of 40 years of service by Mr. Thompson as a teacher in the school, and his loyal devotion to its interests during this unbroken term.

The reunion and reception took the customary form until the announcement of the gifts. A larger number than usual of the alumni, members of the graduating class, teachers of the school and members of the School Committee were present, including many of the older graduates. From 8 to 8:30 there was a reception in the school library, which was decorated with many vases of cut flowers. Mr. Edward K. Stevens, sub-master of the school; Mr. Joseph W. Blaine, president of the Alumni Association; Miss Gladys Burlingame, vice president; Mrs. Gertrude Downing Holman, chairman of the social committee, and Miss Margaret O'Hanley, one of the assistant teachers—assisted Mr. and Mrs. Thompson in receiving.

At 8:45 the Alumni gathered in the assembly hall for the entertainment prepared by the social committee, the program being as follows:

Piano Solos
a. Valse Brilliante Opus 34, No. 1 — Chopin
b. Appassionato—Vivelte Suite in C Minor — Foote
Miss Elizabeth G. Conroy.

Contralto Solos, "At Dawning" — Cadman

Mrs. Gertrude Downing-Holman.

Whistling Solo, "Sing, Sweet Bird" — Ganz

Mr. Vernon M. F. Tallman.

Reading, The Sweet Girl Graduate — Pauline Phelps
Mrs. Alvah H. Sanborn

Contralto Solos, "Rosemary, For Remembrance" — Lady Grey
"Absent," — Albert B. K. Little
Mrs. Gertrude Downing-Holman.

Whistling Solo, "Simple Aveu" — Thorne
Miss Marjorie P. Hicks.

Mr. Henry Stuart Hendy was the accompanist. At the conclusion of this program, the song "Cheer for Rogers," words by Mr. Louis B. Plummer and music by Mr. Hendy, was sung by the assemblage.

THE THOMPSON LOVING CUP.

Then came the presentation. Mr. Edward K. Stevens, sub-master, approached Mr. Thompson, who occupied a seat in the centre of the hall, and spoke briefly, telling what the alumni had done. He referred to the movement, which had been started but four weeks before, to make a suitable recognition of Mr. Thompson's 40 years of service, and the success which had attended the committee's endeavor. The response from the graduates had been spontaneous and generous, contributions coming from all over the country, from as far west as Oregon and as far south as Georgia. As a result a substantial foundation had been made for the establishment of a scholarship, which, with Mr. Thompson's permission, it is proposed to call "The Frank E. Thompson Scholarship." The alumni also desired to make a personal gift to Mr. Thompson, and in selecting an inscription to be placed on the gift had chosen in part the words of one of the donors, "in appreciation of his ever loyal devotion to the interests of the school."

Mr. Stevens then presented a handsome silver cup as the gift of the graduates, and the assemblage rose in a body, giving Mr. Thompson an ovation the like of which the High school has never seen. As the cup was presented to Mr. Thompson Mr. Joseph W. Blaine, president of the Alumni Association, gave to Mrs. Thompson a bouquet of 40 American beauty roses.

While the audience was applauding Mr. Thompson made his way to the platform, and as the audience stood, listening to his words, spoke feelingly in appreciation of the gifts which the graduates had made and the spirit which prompted them. He then related how he came to Newport after two years at Phillips Andover with Mr. Tilton, where he had secured a post

THE CONVENTION HALL INQUIRY.

Changes in Plans Quickly Approved and No Action as to Its Proper Use.

Feeling of the Aldermen That It Should be Clear for Gatherings, and Otherwise Utilized.

The Board of Aldermen held its special investigation meeting Friday evening, and as had been expected developed the fact that the talk heard about town was largely "hot air." There had been a change in the plan of the convention hall without authority, but not intentionally, apparently, and it was something the board would have done had it been asked and to which the building inspector thought the board had agreed. Under these circumstances matters were soon straightened out. There is an idea that this meeting was called solely because of what Alderman Kirby said, but this was not so; other aldermen had heard things on the streets and felt that in justice to all parties an investigation should be held.

There was also some "fireworks" over the use of the convention hall by the Beach Association. For a few minutes it looked as if things were becoming mixed up, but both Mr. Nolan and Mr. McGowan were amenable to reason and when "called" by the mayor they stopped. The board took no action, but it was evident that the feeling was that the convention hall should be clear for conventions, though there seemed no reason why it should not be utilized in some way when not needed for gatherings, provided it is cleared in time. The matter of insurance of the new buildings was finally disposed of, Manager McGowan stating that it is the intention of the Beach Association to take out additional insurance on the new buildings as soon as they are turned over.

Chief Kirwin reported that the curb line on Morton avenue had been laid out and things were ready for work there. Mayor MacLeod reported that the committee on beach bridge was making progress.

Again there was a large attendance of spectators, largely members of the Beach Association interested in the matter of the beach. Again the Board of Aldermen met in the city clerk's office, where there are no accommodations for the public and those who were in attendance were obliged to stand, some of them outside, and take chances of hearing and miss all chance of seeing. Yet the city paid for a place for the Board of Aldermen to meet and put enough room there to enable the public to see and hear.

Before the beach problems were taken up Chief Kirwin was heard. He reported that the city engineer had laid out the line on Morton avenue, 10 feet distant from the fence line. The rail will be run four feet from this and the arrangement seemed to him to be satisfactory as to poles, arms, etc. There had been some idea of putting the poles closer to the park, to come among the trees, but the plan followed seemed to him satisfactory. There will be but one line of poles on Morton avenue—on the south side, where the cars run—and the present pole line on the north side will be removed.

Later the chief returned and said he forgot to call attention to the fact that the company is about ready to go on with the turnouts on Spring street, and suggested the appointment of a committee on the location of poles. Aldermen Leddy and Kelly were appointed, the turnouts being in the Fourth and Fifth wards.

Building Inspector Sullivan and Architect Stevens were present and the board went into the matter of changes in the plans of the convention hall. Mr. Sullivan said it was found that the toilet was to come too close to the kitchen of the Beach Association and Manager McGowan called his attention to the fact and asked if it could not be changed. He spoke to Contractor Beeson, who said he would place it elsewhere if necessary. To him it seemed desirable for both the Beach Association and the city to have the change made, as it was an accommodation to each and gave the hall more air. He spoke to the members of the Board of Aldermen when they were at the beach, looking at the granolithic walk site, and he understood that they were all in favor of the change, as it would cost nothing if made then. So he told the contractor to make the change, moving the toilet 20 feet away from the kitchen. It was something he thought the Board of Health would have favored.

The only other changes when as remembered at the building were all in favor of the city, which Contractor Beeson had made at his request—putting in cross beams to stiffen the frame, putting in tie rods to bind the frame together, and building the foundation piers deeper than originally planned, involving the use of more material. There was also the change from five-inch posts to a larger size. All these had been suggested by him to give the hall more strength and had been made by the contractor without expense to the city.

Some questions were asked about the sink and these Architect Stevens answered. There had been no change in the method of placing this or in its size or depth. Mr. Stevens was in favor of the changes made in the toilet room, as the kitchen, after its extension, was too close to the original location and it really made no difference to the convention hall.

Mayor MacLeod said he was not at the beach on the day referred to by the building inspector. Mr. Kelly thought he remembered some talk about the toilet change. In regard to certain charges which he had heard about changes made in the plans of the convention hall, he would say that his information was incorrect and those who made the charges had not read the specifications correctly.

Mr. Albro asked if Mr. Kirby had any other charges and Mr. Kirby said all he had said was that changes had been made in the plans without authority from the Board of Aldermen. Apparently the changes had been for the best and there would have been no objections to them had the matter been properly brought before the board.

Aldermen Albro and Leddy thought the building inspector should have some leeway in such a matter. Alderman Hughes said the proper way was to have brought the proposed change to the attention of the board and the board would have approved it. That was the proper thing to do, and the proper place for the board to consider it was in the City Hall. Things should be done in a regular way and then there would be no cause for complaint.

Mr. Hughes asked about the blocking of the doors on the west side. The mayor said he had been to the beach and some of the doors are blocked by shelving placed across. The shelving could be removed, perhaps in half an hour, but it is an obstruction. Bric-a-brac and similar articles are on these shelves. He had been informed by the building inspector that there are available for instant use two more exits than are necessary now. In case of a large gathering there he thought the doors should be clear.

Alderman Kirby held that there was no legal right for these things to be there. The board had given no authority for them to be there, and under the idea for which the convention hall was built the board, in his opinion, had no right to grant permission for the placing of these obstructions and the use of the hall for the sale of anything but soda, coffee and luncheon. He cited the case of Put-in-Bay, a small place which is only a summer resort, where a similar hall is provided for parties to eat and to buy coffee and such articles as they need. Not even a waiter is allowed on the floor, but the people go to the counter for what they desire and are expected to pick up papers and put them in receptacles and leave the place clean. Not only an organ but a free vaudeville show is provided for the people. That to his mind is the ideal of what this convention hall should be when not in use for a convention, a place where women and children can sit out of the heat, with all the doors open so that all the breeze possible can be had, and no place obstructed for the sale of things not necessary for eating. No money should be made by the Beach Association from letting stands for the sale of souvenirs in the convention hall.

At this point the "fireworks" began. Mr. Nolan asked if Mr. Kirby could prove that the Beach Association received any money for this, and Mr. Kirby "called" Mr. Nolan by telling him he had no right to ask him a question without asking him through the mayor. Mr. Nolan said he had done so; Mr. Kirby said he had not, and he could not bulldoze him. It did not look well for the paid attorney of the Beach Association to come into a meeting of the Board of Aldermen and attempt to bulldoze the members. The alderman walked over near where Mr. Nolan stood and for a minute things looked lively, but the mayor rose to the occasion and spoke to Mr. Nolan and the incident was over.

Mr. McGowan was called upon to say something and began by calling attention to the fact that the alderman from his ward is against the Beach Association in its efforts to give the city the improvements planned. The mayor again called for something different.

Mr. McGowan said the convention hall should not look deserted, but should have some ornamentation when not in use as a convention hall and filled with people. The Beach Association offers full opportunity for all who wish to go in and enjoy themselves, and sit and eat their luncheon, and furnishes opportunity for them to buy coffee, soda and other refreshments and food. He told of conventions arranged for and said the Association proposes to have the place run right and afford full opportunity for the public to enjoy it.

Mr. Kirby moved that the board order the Beach Association to remove the counters and obstructions on the west side, so that the convention hall can be used for the purposes for which it was built and for these only. Mr. Albro said he doubted if that motion would be seconded, and it was not. There was some talk and finally Mr. Hughes asked if there had been any obstruction to the use of the hall for the purposes for which it had been built up to this time. Apparently up to that time there had not been any.

The action of the building inspector in changing the location of the toilet was approved.

There was some talk about when the iron rail would be in and it was thought the work would start Saturday and perhaps go on Sunday.

Alderman Kirby brought up the matter of additional insurance on the buildings at the beach. Alderman Albro desired to shut off talk on this, saying the board had been called together for another purpose, but Aldermen Hughes and Kelly said they were there to do any business of the city and this seemed to be business.

Alderman Kirby said $10,000 insurance is all the Beach Association carries on the city buildings. If there is a fire the rent ceases until the buildings are re-built by the city. The city has now spent about $90,000 on improvements at the beach, and it seemed that there should be more insurance on the buildings; $25,000 is all the city could ask the Association to put on at the outside, and it seemed to him that the Association should have as much as that.

Mr. McGowan said $30,000 of the amount had been paid for old buildings which had been torn down, and suggested that the Association might have some plans for further insurance. The mayor said the city property at the beach is more dangerous than other city property and should be insured. In answer to Mr. Nolan he said that no other city property is insured. Mr. McGowan stated that the Beach Association carries insurance on the buildings which it has put up for itself, but only $10,000 on the city buildings.

Contractor Beeson carries a builders' risk of $9,000 to protect himself. At the suggestion of Mr. Nolan he explained this. He is under contract to furnish the convention hall. If it burns up before he delivers it he is still under contract to furnish it and must replace the burned building. That is why he carries the builders' risk. This expires July 1.

Mr. McGowan explained that when the new structures now under construction are turned over to the Beach Association it is the intention to have them insured for the benefit of the city. This ended the insurance talk in a manner satisfactory to all.

Contractor Beeson said the convention hall, except the dining room, doors and the interior painting, would be finished Monday. He expected the doors Monday and they would be put in place at once.

Building Inspector Sullivan reported the new bathhouses ready for inspection and the Board voted to make an inspection of the bathhouses and the convention hall Thursday noon. After the meeting at the beach they will go to the City Hall and hold the regular Thursday meeting.

Alderman Kirby said, in view of the action of the Beach Association, in regard to occupying the convention hall, it was a question if the Association would not charge for the use of the hall for conventions. Alderman Kelly said it was expressly understood that there is to be no charge for the use of the hall. Manager McGowan was asked if that was his understanding and he said it was.

Mayor MacLeod announced after the meeting that the committee on new bridge had met early in the day and it was the feeling of all that the highway department should do all the work at the bridge, including the concrete bridge and the road work, which is in Middletown, the town of Middletown paying its proportion of the cost. The new bridge will be 40 feet wide and one half will first be built; when that is ready to use the wooden bridge will be removed and the other part of the concrete bridge will be constructed. This will allow the bridge to be used without any interruption to travel. The board thought the ideas good and approved what had been done. The bridge committee will have another meeting, at which it is expected that plans will be definitely made so that the work may begin.

After the adjournment the committee on Fourth of July had a meeting.

ROGERS LOSES FINAL GAME.

The Alumni Defeat High School Boys, 12 to 3, in Their Annual Match.

Fast, Aggressive Ball Played by Winners, Rain Falling Intermittently During Contest.

The Rogers High School base ball team lost its final game of the season Friday afternoon, the Alumni defeating the boys, 12 to 3, in their annual match. Rogers presented a patched-up team, as several of the men, including the manager, failed to appear, evidently believing there would be no game, either on account of the weather or from lack of definite knowledge about the Alumni team. This was made up entirely of recent members of the school, the "old grads" who have been prominent for several years being missing. Only four actual alumni were included in the line-up.

Corcoran of Brown University pitched the first four innings for the Alumni, and should not have been scored upon. He passed three men in the second, which, with a single to left by G. Dennison, accounted for the Rogers' first run, Tubley bringing over the count. In the next inning Oxx dropped Arnold's easy fly for a starter, and the runner stole second and scored on Pinto's hit to left. In the fourth G. Dennison was out to a desperate attempt to steal home with two out. This may have cost a run, as Wilks, first man up in the fifth, was safe on Eddy's muff of a low throw by short.

Oxx finished the game for the Alumni, and was scored on once. Arnold led off in the eighth with a single and stole second. Langley threw over Underwood's head, and the ball went through Bleael, Arnold completing the circuit. He would have scored, an away, on Pinto's single.

Oxx was saved from a score in the sixth by a fine throw by Kirby, who nailed Pinto trying to score from second, which he had reached on a hit-by-pitcher and a wild pitch, on G. Dennison's second hit. Oxx saved himself in the fifth, when he pulled down Arnold's liner with his gloved hand and doubled Wilks off first. Bleael made a sensational catch of Arnold's long drive to the centre field wall in the first while Ralph O'Connell showed some Trojan fielding when he stopped Dennison's bid for a hit back of Bird and nailed his man on a good throw. For the High School, Cottrell took a line drive off Eddy's bat in the second, while Tubley played fast ball around third base.

Rain fell intermittently during the game, and all the balls were waterlogged before the contest started. The infield was a swamp, and home plate and the pitcher's box were filled in before the game could commence. The wet ball accounted for the large number of stolen bases as the catchers were unable to throw the heavy sphere accurately.

As no regular pitcher appeared for Rogers, Arnold went into the box. He is not a pitcher, but he did creditable work, considering the conditions and the support given him. He fanned Speers four times, and only three men hit him hard. His own wildness put him
